#22 Comment on what the instructor does well (please be specific)

- Communicates clearly sets assignments up in an organized manner.
- Patient with questions asked
- He was very good at following the syllabus. You always knew what to expect from each class and were well informed of due dates and assignments that you were to complete.
- He was personable with the students and tried to make the best of the dry topics that weren't so interesting.
- The instructor opened my eyes to a new world of technology. By thinking critically, I was able to learn of the new technology in today's world as well as learn more information about other programs I use currently.
- Lectures were relevant and fairly easy to listen to.
- He is very knowledgeable on the topics presented.
- Very knowledgeable, has a lot of real-world experience, and genuinely enjoys what he teaches about, making the course material much more interesting.
- he did a good job informing us of what was out there for nonprofits.
- Professor Wolber provided interesting websites and materials that leaders in the non-profit sector are able to utilize.
- Explains things well to the best of his ability.
- Good and thorough knowledge of what he's teaching and a clear passion and excitement for the material.

#23 Comment on what the instructor could do differently/better (please be specific)

Organize the syllabus (the information about the projects) clearly so they are in distinct cells, the information was hard to find at times.

Find ways to re-word answers/responses...often times it was kind of difficult to understand his reasoning

I thought that the grading was a little ambiguous. There were times when he said that an assignment looked good but yet the grades did not reflect that. A little frustrating from a students perspective to know how to do better.

I think the grading for this class was questionable. I'm not used to the small amount of points

The grading was extremely tough. There is little room for leniency which is acceptable, however based on my effort in the class and my understanding on the material, some points were taken off for minor errors or opinion differences. Besides this, Excellent class and great professor to teach this class. I learned more than I had expected and the professor was nonbiased.

I would have liked direct feedback on my writing posts.

More use of hands on work and less lecture. Make it more interactive with the students.

The one thing I would have liked was to receive comments on assignments turned in as to why I was marked down points, even if I was only minimally marked down.

Not be so harsh on the grading. You could do the exact thing he wanted and never get full credit for anything. Felt like you could never get the full points and that became discouraging.

Be more of alienient grader when it came to group projects and work inside of class. Many of the material Professor Wolber presented are new concepts and ways that are challenging to do well with little experience in the IT field.

Simplify some of the things we talk about in class. Don't assume we know about everything related to the subject.

be more specific on his expectations for his grading and how we can move up if we got a lower grade on anything.

#24 Additional comments

Nice guy, intentions are good, he just speaks in "experienced tech" ways that weren't always clear

I really liked the final presentation component. I feel like a gained a new skill from that project.

Fantastic course and fantastic instructor! I would definitely recommend this class with this professor!

enjoyed the class!
